The Baha’i Faith has its own calendar known as the Badi calendar, was brought first by the Báb and then later confirmed by Bahá’u’lláh. In Australia, we commonly use the Gregorian Calendar. The Badi calendar has some similarities, like having 7 days in a week, but also some important differences ...

Q. How many days are there in a Baha’i month?

A. ___ ___ days

(Hint: we have feast once every Baha’i month)

Q. How many months are there in a Baha’i year?

A. ___ ___ months

(Hint: it’s a familiar number in the faith 😊)

Q. How many days does it take for the earth to go around the sun?

A. ___ ___ ___ days

(days in a year)

(technically it takes ___ days, 5 hours, 59 minutes and 16 seconds. This extra bit is why we have leap years)

🤔 So if there’s 19 days in a month and 19 months in a year, how many days are there in total?

___ × ___ = 361 days

Wait a minute, there’s only 361 days in a Baha’i year but there’s 365 days in a year! What about the remaining 4 days? These four days are called intercalary days, or the days of Ayyám-i-Há.
